

HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS OF MEN FACE EACH OTHER

Skilful Attack Is Met by Desperate Defense in Latest Battle in Northern France.

FRENCH MOVE STEADILY AHEAD

Defeat Terrible German Counterattacks and Take Thousands of Prisoners—Troops Filled with Delight Over Change to Open Warfare.

(From a Staff Correspondent of the Associated Press.)

ON FRENCH FRONT IN FRANCE

FRIDAY, April 20.—Pushing steadily here, storming with great dash there, defeating terrible German counterattacks and taking thousands of prisoners, the French carried their victorious forward move farther to-day along the entire front from Soissons to Aubervilliers. Hundreds of thousands of men face each other in this latest battle, wherein skilful attack is met by desperate defense.

As the Associated Press correspondent to-day observed a section of the battle for the ridge upon which runs the Chemin-des-Dames Road, branching eastward from the great Maubeuge Road, about four miles northward of Valenciennes, and parallel with the Aisne River, batches each of a hundred German prisoners marched toward the rear to augment the 10,000 already counted since the engagement began on Monday.

FRENCH SOLDIERS MARCH WITH CONFIDENT SWING

To-day, for the first time since the French moved from their lines to attack, the sun shone and the brilliance of the weather was reflected on the faces of the troops, who were filled with delight over the change from trench warfare. The men sang in their bivouacs and marched with a confident swing when ordered forward. The French artillery fire constituted one continuous roll all along the front, and the German replied heavily, but their guns were forced gradually back.

Possession of the Chemin-des-Dames ridge given the occupant excellent positions for observation, and the Germans fought desperately to retain it. They could not, however, stay the French progress at several points, and their fierce counterattack between Ailles and Hurlbise was crushed, despite the fact that they threw great masses of men against the advancing French.

TOBACCO AS ANTITOXIN

German Surgeon Says Use of Cigarettes and Cigarettes Prevents Typhoid and Malaria in Lowlands.

BERLIN, April 21.—A German army surgeon of high rank reports in a medical journal that tobacco protects the soldiers in the field against contagious diseases. The physician made extensive investigations on the eastern and Roumanian fronts, and the statistics collected by him show that the men addicted to the use of tobacco seldom become victims of malaria, typhoid, etc.

"In the fever-ridden lowlands and marshes of the Danube, I noticed that our soldiers remained well even under the worst weather conditions, as long as they smoked tobacco, cigars and cigarettes," the physician writes. "Whenever our tobacco supply gave out the cases of typhoid and malaria became quite numerous. I made similar observations in the unhealthy marshes along the Pripiet and the Sereth. Other physicians with whom I discussed the result of my investigations assured me they also had observed the immunizing effects of tobacco."

"My theory was further strengthened by reports I received from the marshy districts of the Dvinsk front and from Mesopotamia. To test the effect of tobacco smoke on bacilli of different kinds, I made a number of experiments, and found that it kills malaria, smallpox, typhoid and even cholera germs in a short time. For this reason I consider it my duty to appeal to the public to send as much tobacco as possible to the men at the front."

FIRES IN LEAKSVILLE

Home of Manager of Welfare and Health Bureau—Third Disaster Within Last Ten Days.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) DANVILLE, VA., April 21.—The township of Leaksville, not far over the State border, suffered its third disastrous fire within ten days last night, when the residence of W. H. Lynch, manager of welfare and health of the community, was destroyed. A good many pieces of furniture were saved from the fire, which started, it is believed, from a defective flue, causing a financial loss of $15,000. Eight thousand dollars insurance was on the building. The residence was known as the Dr. Mebane place and situated on a grassy knoll, commanded a fine view. A short while later fire destroyed Redman's livery stable, in the retail district. Ten days ago the Empire Theater was destroyed.

WILL H. PARRY DEAD

Vice-Chairman of Federal Trade Commission Never Recovers From Effects of Operation.

(By Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, April 21.—Will H. Parry, of Seattle, vice-chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, died at a hospital here late to-day from the effects of an operation performed a week ago.

Mr. Parry had been in poor health for some months, and overwork had made his condition worse. When President Wilson learned he was to go to the hospital, he assigned his own personal physician, Dr. Cary T. Grayson, as a consultant.

An operation was performed for gallstones, and for the first few days it appeared he had a more than even chance for recovery. His heart began to weaken on Friday, however, and it was seen he could not live.

In the death of Mr. Parry, the Trade Commission loses one of its most valuable and active members. He organized its staff, and personally directed many of its economic investigations.

WOMEN TO INSIST ON CONSCRIPTION LAW

Mrs. Alexander Graham Bell Urges "Drive" on Congress for That Method of Recruiting.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Appeal to the women of America, addressed to the "mothers, wives and daughters of brave men," has been sent out by Mrs. Alexander Graham Bell to make a "big drive" on Congress in the effort to have that body pass conscription legislation. The appeal calls upon the women to act now, as "to-morrow may be too late."

"Universal military training," the appeal says, "is a means whereby the whole citizenship of the nation can be made to contribute to its defense, exactly as through property taxation the whole citizenship is made to contribute to its maintenance."

"You should not try to prevent your boys from springing to their country's aid, but you have the right to insist that they shall not be left alone to bear the brunt, that they shall not be sacrificed for the unpatriotic."

"If you want to save them you must act now, at once, without a moment's further delay. The bill authorizing universal military training is now before Congress. The forces arrayed against it are united and powerful. Remember what is at stake. Your men's chances of returning to you are lessened if the bill fails to pass, for they will have to do double duty.

"What you must do is to send word at once to your Congressmen. Tell your neighbors about it and get them to act, too. Show them you ask for nothing but justice, for the principle that all contribute to the maintenance of the government, so must all contribute to its defense. And act now. To-morrow may be too late."
